SHIP BUILDERS STRIKE RETARDS U.S. NAVAL WORK

3,500 Men at Fore River Plant of Bethlehem Co. Are Out

Quincy, Mass., Nov. 1.—Officials of the Fore River plant of the Bethlehem Ship Building Co. were prepared today to confer with committees representing striking machinists and other employees in the hope of adjusting wage differences without further delaying government ship building work. It was estimated that 3,500 men failed to report this morning. Other departments of the plant also were affected, it was said.

S. W. Wakeman, manager of the plant, expressed a willingness to hear the grievances of the men. Their chief demand, according to union leaders, is that the company shall put in writing and live up to an understanding effected some months ago to raise wages to the navy yard scale. Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Co., was expected here today but it was said that his visit had nothing to do with the strike as it had been planned before the trouble developed.

ANNUAL PARADE AND INSPECTION OF SAFETY DEPTS.

Supt. J. H. Redgate has issued orders for the annual inspection and parade of the police department to be held Saturday in connection with an inspection and parade of the fire department. Each department will be inspected separately, but the parade will be a joint affair and will form at 1 o'clock at Main street and Fairfield avenue. Practically every member of each department, except those absolutely necessary to man the stations, will be in the parade.

The police will form in Harrison street between Fairfield avenue and Washington avenue and the inspection will be upon the lawn of the Wheeler homestead. Superintendent Redgate and the commissioners will make the inspection. The firemen will be inspected by Chief D. E. Johnson and the members of the commission, and the entire parade will be reviewed from the city hall by the mayor and city officials.

The line of march will be from Main street to State street, to Park avenue, to Fairfield avenue, to Main street, and dismiss. Arrangements for detail of companies in case of a fire alarm during the parade have been made. Members of both departments will be in dress uniform.

Lieutenant Clayton L. Smith will be in charge of police headquarters during the parade, and Lieutenant James Walker, and Sergeant J. T. Coughlin will also be on duty. Sergeant John A. Lyddy will be in charge of the Second precinct, Lieutenant McGillivray of the Third precinct, and Lieutenant George Fox of the Fourth precinct.

Another time when the gas masks come in handy is when the folks are cooking one of those old fashioned boiled dinners with odoriferous turnip and cabbage.

CELEBRATION OF HALLOWE'EN NOISY

Hallowe'en was celebrated in the usual noisy fashion in the streets of the city last night, hundreds of the younger residents of both sexes appearing in masquerade costume. Although noisy the celebration in the main was orderly, and no complaint of malicious mischief has been received. George Gorhey of 399 Myrtle avenue was knocked down by an automobile when he ran suddenly into the street, but his injuries were slight. Many extra police were on the streets in plain clothes which had the effect of discouraging the most noisy demonstrators.

THREE NEWFOUNDLAND FISHING CRAFT TORPEDOED

Boston, Nov. 1.—Figures made public today by the Boston fish bureau show that of 26 Newfoundland fishing craft lost since Jan. 1, 1915, eight were former Gloucester schooners. Three of the eight were torpedoed while making transatlantic voyages and the others were either wrecked or burned.

WORK ON FIRST QUOTA OF DRAFT NEAR COMPLETION

A number of draft exemption cases reconsidered by local boards at the request of Adjutant General Cole were acted upon at a meeting of the Third District Appellate Board yesterday, but only four discharges were granted. The board has acted on approximately 3,500 government appeals and expects to clear up its work next week. Its work on the first draft, will be extended, however, because more men are to be examined by the first division board.

The board affirmed decisions of the local boards in the following cases, which were reopened with permission from the adjutant general:

Local board 3, William Russell; Raymond F. Sullivan, Lucio Silva, Nicola Pasuoli, Salvatore Pagliuca, John Ferrini, Dominick Delegrasso, already in U.
